In-kind contributions refer to the estimated cash value of donated goods or services—such as volunteer time or donated supplies—that reduce project expenses. These contributions should be described in the project description/narrative and should NOT be included on the project budget sheet.